Module:

1. General information

The main objective of this subject is to provide the ability to analyse and understand the Greek language in texts of basic complexity. For this purpose, the study and analysis of Greek grammatical forms, especially the nominal, and their relationship with those of other classical languages and our own language, is elementary.

SDGS: - Goal 4: Quality Education; Goal 5: Gender Equality; Goal 10: Reduction of Inequalities. - Goal 16: Peace, Justice and Solid Institutions. - Goal 17: Alliances to Achieve Objectives.

Regular class attendance and continuous and autonomous work is recommended in order to assimilate and apply the contents of gradual difficulty. Although starting from an elementary level, a minimum prior knowledge of the functioning of the classical languages is preferable.

2. Learning results

1. Ability to identify the main linguistic systems of the Greek language from its Indo-European origins to today at an elementary level.
2. Acquisition of Greek lexicon and identification of its formative procedures at an elementary level.
3. Ability to delimit the survival of Hellenisms in specialized language at an elementary level.
4. To be initiated in the study of Greek literature, paying attention to its stages, genres and influence on Western literatures.
5. Ability to analyse and understand elementary Greek texts according to their basic grammatical structures and their historical and literary context at an elementary level.

3. Syllabus

1. Greek and Indo-European languages.
2. The Greek phonological system.
3. Flexive procedures
4. The nominal flexion.

4. Academic activities

Face-to-face presentations of morphological commentary and translation of Luciano's texts, previously prepared by the student, for discussion with the rest of the classmates.

Resolution of problems and practical cases of morphology and translation: non face-to-face activity (delivery of an excerpt).

Literary study and reading in Spanish of Greek literary works for a better understanding of the texts analysed in face-to-face and non-face-to-face activities (selection of Lucian's works).

Reading of a monograph on the History and Literature of Greece.

5. Assessment system

First call

1. Continuous assessment
 - Translation with dictionary of a text by Luciano (30% of the final grade).
 - Translation without dictionary of a text seen in Luciano's class (10% of the final grade).
 - Resolution of case studies: Luciano's texts prepared by the student and presented in class, with delivery of a written excerpt (5% of the final grade).
 - Greek nominal morphology exam (45% of the final grade).

- Resolution of practical cases: analysis and commentary of nominal morphology prepared by the student and presented in class, with delivery of a written selection (5% of the final grade).

- Report or test of readings (5% of the final grade).

The accuracy of the analysis and translation (morphological, lexical, syntactic and semantic levels); the reasoning and justification provided; the correctness of the written expression will be assessed.

In order to calculate the final average grade, at least a grade of "four" out of ten must be obtained in each written exercise (morphology, the two translation exercises and readings).

2. Global assessment:

- Translation with dictionary of a text by Luciano (35% of the final grade).

- Translation without dictionary of a text seen in Luciano's class (15% of the final grade).

- Written exam on nominal morphology (45% of the final grade).

- Report or test of readings (5% of the final grade).

Same evaluation criteria as the continuous assessment.
