Degree: 278 - Degree in Fine Arts

ECTS: 8.0

Year: 3

Semester: Annual

Subject Type: Compulsory

Module:

1. General information

1.1. Aims of the course

The subject and its expected results respond to the following approaches and objectives:

The course "Project Methods. Image" is of a theoretical and practical nature. The theoretical contents developed in the different didactic units will articulate a workshop work in which the student will put into practice the artistic proposals he has previously elaborated at a theoretical level. Some of these proposals will be publicly presented with the aim of creating an internal debate on the different problems and creative solutions that students contribute with their works, as well as the possibility of defending and contributing with suggestions to the previously conceived proposals. It is considered fundamental the coordination, overlapping and coherence of the project proposals with their materialization.

Objectives:

- To acquire the ability to identify and understand the problems of art through practical experimentation.
- To reflect on one's own artistic practice and to conceptualize those aspects that define it.
- Acquire the ability to develop strategies for artistic creation by carrying out projects of an artistic nature, both individually and collectively.

SDGS

These approaches and objectives are aligned with the following Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) of the United Nations 2030 Agenda (<https://www.un.org/sustainabledevelopment/es/>), so that the acquisition of the subject learning outcomes provides training and competence to contribute to some extent to their achievement:

Goal 4: Quality Education;

Goal 17: Partnerships to achieve the goals

- To provide the student with the knowledge of the language necessary to be able to describe the different projectual facets of their artistic work.

In short, the main objective of this course is to provide the student with knowledge, both conceptual and technical, linked to a critical reflection on their own work, within the contemporary cultural context.

1.2. Context and importance of this course in the degree

Project Methods. Image is a compulsory subject of an annual nature of the third year of the Graduate Degree in Fine Arts belonging to the module "Artistic Creation Processes" that has an allocation of 8 ECTS credits.

This subject is directly related to the subject, of the same academic year, "Project Methodology. Space". Both are based on the same concern to hybridize theoretical and practical in which the student is able to reflect on their creative process and the methodology used to execute it and shape the proposed proposals. MdPI focuses the development of the student in a process of visual creation with a clear plastic connotation, as well as research in art directed to the construction of two-dimensional artistic work in the same way that it explores the methodology of narrative projects for progressive and modular development independently of the final format of static images (graphic novel, illustration, storytelling ...) or dynamic images (animation, audiovisual, virtual ...).

Project Methods. Image aims to address the student's personal work from a multidisciplinary perspective, taking into account that students already have the skills acquired in the two years of previous studies. On the other hand, it lays the foundations for the subject "Construction of artistic discourse" and the "Final Degree Project" proposed in the fourth year of the Title.

1.3. Recommendations to take this course

It is an open workshop in which all kinds of languages can exist based on a student's personal project with two-dimensional characteristics.

The classes are face-to-face, in the event that the characteristics of the project itself require the assistance of other means, tools or spaces, the teacher should be consulted.

Works done outside the classroom-workshop of the Faculty not previously agreed with the teacher will not be taken into account, and works done outside the context and dynamics of the workshop that have not been supervised by the same teacher will not be accepted.

The student will make creative and justified proposals that will be assisted in a tutorial.

2. Learning goals

2.1. Competences

By passing the subject, the student will be more competent to ...

General competences:

- CG01. Ability to produce and relate ideas within the creative process.
- CG02. Communication skills. Learn to translate artistic ideas in order to transmit them.
- CG03. Ability to clearly present complex artistic problems and projects in writing and orally.
- CG04. Capacity for (self) analytical and (self) critical reflection in artistic work.

CE31. Ability to carry out artistic research projects.

CE32. Skills for artistic creation and the ability to build works of art. Acquire the skills of artistic practice.

CE33. Ability to establish production systems. Develop strategies applied to the systematic exercise of artistic practice.

CE34. Ability to carry out, organize and manage innovative artistic projects.

CE35. Ability to adequately present artistic projects. Know how to communicate artistic projects in diversified contexts.

2.2. Learning goals

The student, to pass this subject, must demonstrate the following results ...

Know and apply the basic techniques that allow you to materialize personal artistic projects in any of its manifestations.

Know and use the appropriate documentary sources where to find the references prior to the materialization of a creative proposal.

He is able to generate and relate ideas within the creative process.

He develops a critical spirit about the role of art and the artist in today's society, and about his own work.

He knows how to present his creative proposals in public in a clear and orderly way, arguing the criteria on which he bases them, and uses the most appropriate communication resources for their presentation.

He can join a work team, developing the functions entrusted to him, and contributing with his contributions to the achievement of the objectives set in a collective project.

He adequately integrates artistic discourses of a different nature into his personal proposals, relating them to other disciplines and fields of knowledge.

2.3. Importance of learning goals

This subject provides the necessary knowledge for the student to successfully approach the last course of the degree since it provides the necessary instruments to organize and enhance knowledge in processes of autonomous creation and interdisciplinary experimentation.

Likewise, it prepares the student for professional artistic practice by introducing them to artistic projection and methodologies aimed at plastic projects (individual) and narrative projects (teamwork), an essential requirement when facing the professional world in any of the fields in which the graduate in Fine Arts tends to specialize.

The subject combines the planning that must be taken in a project and the steps that must be taken into account for its execution

3. Assessment (1st and 2nd call)

3.1. Assessment tasks (description of tasks, marking system and assessment criteria)

In accordance with the Regulations for the Learning Assessment Standards of the University of Zaragoza, the assessment system presented below is established. The student must demonstrate that she has achieved the expected learning outcomes through the following assessment activities to pass the subject through one assessment system or another.

CONTINUOUS ASSESSMENT. DESCRIPTION AND RATINGS.

The continuous evaluation will be carried out from the following evaluation activities:

AF01. Academic works: presentation of analysis works on the contents proposed in the subject.

AF02. Projects: elaboration of personal artistic projects of a theoretical-practical nature.

AF03. Exhibition and defense of projects proposed in the subject.

AF04. Monitoring of individual work in the classroom-workshop.

AF05. Portfolio: dossier that documents the work done during the course.

AF06. Student participation in class and co-evaluation.

Assessment based on the systematic collection of data in the learning context itself.

Project work is mandatory and punctuality will be taken into account in their presentations, text comments, reports, etc. Prior to the evaluation of the project and their presentations, the evaluation rubrics of each exercise will be reviewed in class.

CONTINUOUS ASSESSMENT. EVALUATION CRITERIA

- Achievement of the learning objectives of the subject.
- Degree of complexity in solving the exercises.
- Personal contribution, conceptual maturity, originality, innovation and creativity.
- Coherence in the processes and phases of development of the works, knowledge of the materials, technical mastery and formal aspects of the presentation and the corresponding documentary confrontation.
- Continuous monitoring and evaluation of the activities carried out by the student, aptitude and interest.

- Assessment of the plastic perception of ideas through acquired skills and abilities.
- Evolution of the learning process.
- Assessment based on the systematic collection of data in the learning context itself.
- Volume of work, level of improvement and personal effort.
- Assessment of each of the exercises delivered by the student throughout the course.
- Assessment of personal creativity and experimentation through the work carried out.
- Involvement in the subject, participation in the workshop dynamics, group criticism and debate sessions.
- Assistance and punctual delivery of works: Draft and Project.
- The annotations of the formative and cumulative evaluation taken in the classroom-workshop, interviews and tutorials.
- Assessment of the development, participation and quality of activities for the development of competencies.
- The grades obtained in the written tests.
- Portfolio evaluation. Photographic dossier made by each student of all the works carried out during the course.
- Assessment of final exercise and / or proposed exam. The final exercise of the global test-
- Works done outside the classroom-workshop not previously agreed with the teacher will not be taken into account, and works done outside the context and dynamics of the workshop will not be accepted. have not been supervised by the same teacher.

The Average Grade for Continuous Evaluation will be extracted proportionally from the value of each of the activities evaluation:

Academic Works	10% (1p)
Analysis of the contents of the subject.
Artistic Projects	40% (4p)
Project 1: Expository (20%) + Project 2: Research or Narrative (20%)
Exhibition and defense	20% (2p)
Exhibition and defense of each project (10% + 10%)
Monitoring and participation	20% (2p)
Class participation, tutorials, delivery of summary and constructive comments.
Portfolio	10% (1p)
Dossier of the work carried out during the academic year at Project Methods. Image
TOTAL 100% (10p)

LOSS OF CONTINUOUS EVALUATION

Project Methodology. Image is a subject based on artistic practice with a development face-to-face. For this reason, a class attendance control is carried out. Those students who accumulate 4 absences * in a quarter or 7 absences * during the academic year, they will lose the right to continuous evaluation, having to pass the subject by the global evaluation system.

* Absences for medical or family reasons that can be justified by a signed document and sealed will not be taken into account in this computation. In these cases, the pertinent documentation will be presented through tutoring for the treatment of confidential personal data.

OVERALL EVALUATION. DESCRIPTION AND RATINGS.

Access to the Global Assessment of the subject is a right of all students.

This assessment consists of a multiple choice test of theoretical and practical content, which evaluates the theoretical and applied knowledge that students must acquire through the contents of the subject through 50 multiple-choice questions and the only correct answer.

The date of said test will be fixed in the official academic calendar published on the website of the Faculty of Social and Human Sciences for the June (1st) and September (2nd) calls.

The evaluation criteria are: each correct answer adds one point to the final grade, each incorrect answer subtracts a quarter point from the final grade; The final theoretical test will be passed by correctly answering 25 of the 50 questions expressed (sufficient).

If the grade obtained in the exam is less than 25 points, the grade obtained will be insufficient.

If the grade obtained in the exam is between 26 and 30 points, the grade obtained is Good.

If the grade obtained in the exam is between 31 and 44 points, the grade obtained is Notable.

If the grade obtained in the exam is between 45 and 50 points, the grade obtained is Excellent.

The average mark of the exam is calculated: $(\text{No. hits} - [\text{No. failures} * 0.25]) * 0.2 = \text{Average grade}$

Those students who obtain an average of more than 5 points through continuous assessment will have passed the subject and are not obliged to take the Global Test, although they may take it to improve their grade and as stated in the Rules of Assessment of the Learning. In these cases, the Continuous Assessment grade will be respected in the event that a lower grade is obtained in the Global Test.

On the other hand, the students who do not pass the Continuous Assessment must take the Global Test, on the contents developed in the subject.

PLAGIARISM AND EVALUATION RULES

The student whose work presents plagiarism in the theoretical development of a project, will suspend the corresponding memory with 0 points.

The student whose project shows plagiarism in the artistic practice of a project, will suspend the corresponding project with 0 points.

The student must know the plagiarism regulations of the University of Zaragoza and its consequences published in: <https://biblioteca.unizar.es/propiedad-intelectual/propiedad-intelectual-plagio>

In the same way, you must know the Regulation of Learning Assessment Standards approved in an agreement of December 22, 2010, of the University Governing Council: <http://tud.unizar.es/docs/ReglacionesdeNormasdeEvaluaciondelAprendizaje.pdf>

4. Methodology, learning tasks, syllabus and resources

4.1. Methodological overview

The methodology followed in this course is oriented towards the achievement of the learning objectives, both general (CG01, CG02, CG03, CG04, CG06, CG07, CG08, CG09, CG10, CG11, CG12, CG13, CG14, CG15) and specific (CE03, CE04, CE08, CE11, CE12, CE13, CE14, CE15, CE16, CE19, CE20, CE21, CE22, CE23, CE24, CE25, CE26, CE27, CE29, CE30, CE31, CE32, CE33, CE34, CE35).

A wide range of teaching and learning tasks are implemented, such as AF01, AF02, AF03, AF04, AF05, and AF06.

Students are expected to participate actively in the class throughout the semester.

Classroom materials will be available via Moodle. These include a repository of the lecture notes used in class, the course syllabus, as well as other course-specific learning materials, including a discussion forum.

The theoretical development of the subject will be carried out through the presentation of the fundamental aspects of the contents as well as through the reading of texts related to them and the visualization of collected audiovisual materials. These theoretical aspects will be completed with the presentation and sharing of works, research, exercises, and comments made by the student both individually and collectively on specific issues of the program.

The practical experience in the classroom workshop will consist of the execution of the projects proposed throughout the course. The individualized monitoring of each of the programmed activities will have a special impact on procedural and procedural aspects. There will not be a split between the theoretical and practical contents that will be developed in parallel throughout the course.

4.2. Learning tasks

Teaching methodology
Activity	Teaching techniques	Student Work	Hours
AF01. Theoretical class	Theoretical classes given by the teacher on the contents of the subject.	Classroom : Taking notes, answering doubts.	16
