1. General information

2. Learning goals

3. Assessment (1st and 2nd call)

4. Methodology, learning tasks, syllabus and resources

4.1. Methodological overview

The learning process will be conducted via lectures in which they will work, preferably, with written materials and audio-visual support (hearings, videos, and PowerPoint presentations). The theoretical exposition will always be combined with the practice aspect. The theoretical contents of the subject will be exposed and the compulsory reading works will be analysed, as well as a selection of other complementary literary and documentary texts and literary criticism that will be provided to the student. In the practical classes in the classroom, various activities will be carried out, including comments on specific samples of dramatic texts. Both in the theoretical sessions and in the practical sessions an active implication is pursued, for which different activities will be carried out that favour motivation, critical thinking and debate among students.

4.2. Learning tasks

The program offered to the student to help him achieve the expected results includes the following activities:

	Hours	Attendance %
Lectures of theoretical, explicative and descriptive nature	30	100
Lectures of practical nature	20	100
Mentoring	10	100
Assessment	10	100
Mandatory reading and bibliographical work	25	0
Autonomous work or practical self-learning	55	0

4.3. Syllabus

1. Dramatic texts of Spanish literature: short forms
2. Dramatic texts of Spanish literature: extensive forms
3. Dramatic texts of Hispanic literature.

Texts and authors that do not appear in the compulsory subjects will be studied.

4.4. Course planning and calendar

It will be communicated through the Moodle platform or, failing that, through a written document delivered by the teacher. The dates of the global assessment exams will be set by the Faculty of Philosophy and Letters.
