1. General information

The Degree Final Project is the last expression of the knowledge and skills acquired by the students throughout the degree, trying to offer them the possibility of relating the contents of the different subjects they have studied and to demonstrate that they can carry out works of high maturity.

2. Learning results

The learning results associated with the subject Final Degree Project are the following:

- Is able to apply knowledge to practice.
- Is able to interrelate the different disciplines that make up labor relations and human resources.
- Is able to select and manage labor information and documentation.

3. Syllabus

As its name indicates, the Degree Final Project requires students to prepare a solid work that demonstrates that they have acquired the knowledge and competencies of all the subjects taken. Taking into account its characteristics, it lacks a program as such, and each student must choose from among the thematic lines offered by the areas and the director of each project supervises its evolution, through the tutorials that have been agreed upon in the DFP Proposal.

4. Academic activities

As is the case with the program, the academic activities that can be carried out will be extremely varied. These should be specified as far as possible when the DFP proposal is made, when the specific topic of the work is defined and the number of tutoring sessions that should take place as a minimum is fixed.

There are many different areas of knowledge with assigned Final Degree Projects, finding differences in terms of methodology and resources. In any case, in all of them, care should be taken to ensure that the paper contains sufficient elements of personal creation and that the bibliography is adequately cited.

5. Assessment system

Students must demonstrate, in the periods established for this purpose, that they have obtained the learning results expected in the subject, and a public defense of the Degree Final Project must be carried out before the director of this or, if the student chooses to obtain an Honorary Degree, before the Tribunal appointed for this purpose.

The DFP may be deposited and defended on the dates established by the Degree Guarantee Committee.

These dates will be made public at the beginning of each academic year on the Faculty's web page possible, the defense of the papers will take place at least 15 days after the deposit is made.

The following criteria should be taken into account in the evaluation of the work:

- Format (maximum 1 point): It covers formal aspects, written communication and writing skills, structure, etc...
- Content (maximum 6 points): It includes the justification of the chosen work, the approach, development and achievement of goals, clarity in the development, conclusions and bibliography.
- Presentation and defense (maximum 3 points): Collects the presentation and defense of the TFG

A more detailed explanation of the defense procedure and the evaluation applicable to the Degree Final Project can be found in the regulations of the Faculty and the University of Zaragoza, available at: <https://sociales.unizar.es/rlrh/trabajo-fin-de-grado-normativa>
