4.1.Methodological overview

The learning process that has been designed for this subject is based on the use of different teaching methods. Theoretical classes will be based on the use of didactic expositive forms, which will consist of the presentation of the topics included in the Syllabus that is presented and the revision of the contents that appear on this topic in periodical or specialized publications. However, other teaching methods may be used to facilitate the participation of students in the teaching-learning process.

The practical classes will mainly use participatory didactic methods and will mainly consist of the analysis of a business case by teams of 4 or 5 members, preferably with a foreign student in each group. This analysis has been broken down into 7 parts, so that in the first 6 the concepts and methods explained in the theory are applied as they progress in it. And in the 7th, all previous analyzes are applied together.

In addition, in order to facilitate the teaching-learning process of students, the subject will be included in the virtual platform ADD (<https://moodle2.unizar.es/add/>) of the University of Zaragoza. There the student will be able to find the material used during the theory and practice classes, as well as other useful information and tools for learning.

In order to access the virtual platform ADD, the previous part of the e-mail of the university and the password of the e-mail are required as the user name. If you do not know this information you have to contact with the secretary department of your school.

Further information regarding the course will be provided on the first day of class.

4.2.Learning tasks

The course includes 6 ECTS organized according to:

- Lectures (3ECTS): 30 hours. Theoretical classes will use the magisterial lesson to present the contents of the subject.
- Practical sessions (3 ECTS): 30 hours. They can implement the knowledge acquired in the theoretical classes and demonstrate the ability to work in group and inter-personal communication skills. The development of practical classes will be based on the use of the case method and solving exercises. However, we can also use other teaching methods such as analysis and discussion of readings in class.
- Problem-based learning / Laboratory (ICT tool) / Individual and / or group seminars / tutorials in the office or through ADD that allow a more direct and personalized support to the students to explain their doubts about the contents of the subject, orient them in the Study and in the resolution of the exercises or cases proposed; Together with the Student's Personal Work (9 ECTS): 90 hours
